DAVID BERGER '98

The chief operating officer of Hospitality America believes in the power of relationships.

lynn.edu/David

The first in his family to graduate from college, he says Lynn was perfect for him because of the small classes and interactive environment. "If you're learning what you like, you become captivated by it, and I did," he said. Today, he creates a great work environment and culture for his co-workers, customers and vendors. "Relationships are the most important thing in life. And they're the most important thing in business. I work hard at them."

Lynn grads have a net economic gain of

$729,000

over the course of their careers.

BRETT PODOLSKY '11

The co-founder of the Farmer's Dog turned an unmet need into a thriving business.

lynn.edu/Brett

He pursued career paths including hedge funds and stand-up comedy before his beloved Rottweiler led him to start one of the "18 coolest companies to work for in NYC" and to earn recognition by Forbes as one of the top "30 under 30" entrepreneurs. When his puppy developed food sensitivities, he was inspired to build a business that delivers freshly made pet food with human-quality ingredients. Today, he aims to disrupt the $60 billion pet food industry with products that are "personalized and devoid of any marketing fluff."

CHRISTIAN '12 AND KAYLA '13 MANZANO

The co-founders of Discover Campervans turned their passion into profits.

lynn.edu/ChristianandKayla

After a few years in "traditional jobs," these college sweethearts took a road trip across Iceland in a campervan that ignited their entrepreneurial flame. "The freedom of driving from one location to the next, on our own time schedule and in comfort, convinced us to take a leap," said Kayla. A week after they returned from Iceland, the Manzanos bought their first campervan, and Discover Campervans was born. Today, the couple rents fully equipped, custom vans for travelers to drive, dine and dream.

98%
of 2019–20 known graduates were employed or continuing education within one year of graduation.

KUDA BIZA '09, '10

The co-founder and chief marketing officer of Nunbelievable believes that we shape our own destinies.

lynn.edu/Kuda

Kuda emigrated from Zimbabwe to pursue his American dream with only $40 in his pocket. He went on to earn two Lynn degrees and become a successful entrepreneur and is now on a mission to fight hunger and ensure quality education for children. His direct-to-consumer baked goods company donates a meal for every cookie sold. "If you're intentional with integrity, you can meet amazing people and do great things. It's what you do in the present that will influence your life."

lynn.edu/arts

As a student in the College of Arts and Sciences, you'll be encouraged to pursue your passion, prepare for a fulfilling career and make a true difference.

Experience strength in diversity with wide-ranging academic majors, expert faculty, and students representing a multitude of nations and interests. Want to become a doctor, forensic investigator, psychologist or Broadway performer? Majors range from biology and environmental studies to political science and criminal justice and emphasize experiential learning and community involvement.

Work hands-on with faculty in laboratory experiments, perform in a variety show, intern with a government office in Washington, D.C., or clean the beach to protect sea turtles. You'll uncover your true academic interests and learn to apply them in meaningful ways.

GO PLACES— PERSONALLY AND PROFESSIONALLY.

lynn.edu/aviation

If you've dreamed of a career that will take you to new heights, then the Burton D. Morgan College of Aeronautics at the Boca Raton Airport is for you.

Prepare for a career as a commercial or private pilot or in aviation operations or aviation security. Don't wait to fly: You can earn your Federal Aviation Administration medical certification as soon as your second week. The college is authorized by the Federal Aviation Administration as a provider of the Airline Transport Pilot Certification Training Program (ATP CTP). You can also get your restricted ATP after 1,250 flight hours, instead of the usual 1,500.

THRIVE IN THE DYNAMIC WORLD OF BUSINESS.

lynn.edu/business

From marketing to finance, it's all business in the College of Business and Management.

If you're fascinated by international business issues, then we have the right program for you. Majors range from fashion and retail to sports management, cybersecurity and healthcare management. Intern at a Fortune 500 company, or travel abroad and hone your management skills in places like Asia and South America. A business degree can open more doors for your career and ensures that you stay competitive in today's labor market.

BECOME A MEDIA PRACTITIONER OF THE FUTURE.

lynn.edu/communication

If you're an artist or a storyteller, the Eugene M. and Christine E. Lynn College of Communication and Design will challenge you in ways you've never imagined.

Learn by doing. Gain real-world experience for your resume. Stay ahead of the trends to become a media practitioner of the future. Majors range from multimedia journalism to advertising and public relations to visual effects animation and web design. Our students have interned everywhere from MTV to Blue Sky Studios. When you graduate, you'll feel like you've already been working—and potential employers will recognize and appreciate that confidence.

STEP TO THE HEAD OF THE CLASS.

lynn.edu/education

If you really want to change the world, become a teacher.

And if you think you want to teach but are unsure about the classroom experience, don't worry; we can help. At the Donald E. and Helen L. Ross College of Education, you'll log actual teaching hours—as opposed to “observation” hours—as early as your first year. You'll be taught by seasoned professionals: Every faculty member has extensive experience teaching K–12. And our alumni make immediate contributions to the field: Lynn graduates have frequently been named Beginning Teachers of the Year in the Palm Beach County School District.

REFINE THE ART OF PERFORMING.

lynn.edu/music

When talent meets inspiration, the results are extraordinary.

As a full-tuition scholarship student in the Conservatory of Music, you will have remarkable opportunities to perform as a soloist in chamber music ensembles and in the Lynn Philharmonia.

Experience the benefits of a “boutique” conservatory, including exposure to major orchestral literature and individual mentoring with eminent scholars and performers. Regardless of your focus in either composition or performance you will develop the skills to become an accomplished artist who is equipped to pursue a successful music career.
